HOW TO STOCK A STREAM

If you and a few of your friends are interested in stocking a stream that trout will live and thrive in, and are not fully informed as to procedure, the following hints from the Pennsylvania Fish and Game Commission will be of value.

First—Gravel trout will not live in streams that are above the surface in summer.

Second—Gravel of stream should be free from all stones or pebbles that will break and scatter in the water, and the water should be clear.

Third—Remember that in a trout stream, the water should be pure and clear, and the water should be pure and clear.

Fourth—The best place for stocking is the head of the stream.

Take the rivulets and springs, and the trout will live and thrive in the water.

DISMISSED PORTO RICAN JURY APPEALS

San Juan, April 13.—The grand jury which recently made a presentation of the case against Governor Roffy and other Porto Rican officials was dismissed today by Judge Foot of the San Juan district court. The grand jury afterwards met in chambers outside the court house and appealed to the attorney general for a legal ruling relative to the dismissal, expressing belief that it was not in accordance with the law.

The grand jury, it is stated, had requested the judge that it had business still pending before it.

When the jury came into court Judge Foot refused for the second time to accept the grand jury's report, making the allegations against the governor and other Porto Rican officials. The report was referred to the district attorney's office. In his order refusing to permit the report to be filed Judge Foot said:

"The court forbids any now request that such report be filed."

The grand jury thereafter was dismissed, after holding its meeting outside the court house and appealing to the attorney general.

When the grand jury handed in its presentation last week the court refused to receive it, and when the jury insisted on delivering the report Judge Foot again declined to accept it as a public document, but put it aside in a sealed envelope.
